

Tishk
International University

Faculty of Applied Science
Medical Analysis Department

Course Descriptions

The course reinforces academic writing skills. In this course students write different types of essays based on the ideas they are exposed to in the reading selections. The emphasis is on the writing process in which students go through many stages from brainstorming and outlining to producing a complete documented piece of writing.

ELT 103 / ADVANCED ENGLISH