

Tishk
International University

Faculty of Applied Science
Medical Analysis Department

Course Descriptions

As one of the five primary branches of Chemistry, Analytical chemistry and techniques are used for separation, identification and quantification of matter. Analysis of substances occupies a significant portion of the Medical Analysis and as such the aim of this course is to introduce the chemistry related aspects of analysis and provide insight and knowledge in techniques to conduct these kinds of investigations to maximize the efficacy of practice employing chemistry related methodologies.

MA104 / Analytical Chemistry